1. Darry: [Scornfully to himself]. Mow the meadow! Well, let her see her folly out. [As she shuts the door, the clock in the distant Town Hall Strikes eight. Darry-returns, glances at the clock on the dresser, notices that it has stopped, takes it up, puts his ear against it, shakes it, begins to wind it, finds it difficult to turn, puts added strength into the turning, and, a whirring rattle, like a strong spring breaking, comes from the inside of the clock. He hastily replaces the clock on the dresser.

2. Darry: [indignantly, stopping to talk, while Barry goes on]. I'm missin' it because I'm trying to foster you into the right balance 'n rhythm of the movements. That's why I'm missin' it. [Loudly] An' I'm wastin' me time! Barry: [sharply]. I'm doin' me best, amn't I? Darry: [more sharply still]. "Your best effort, though underway, but still falls short of what's required. It's pitiful 'n painful to be watchin' you, man. [He stands up and looks at Barry, who keeps going.] Eh, eh, you'll do yourself an injury, Barry. Get up 'n we'll do the song. [As Barry goes on] Oh, get up 'n we'll do the song.
